Purpose: To guide personnel through the incident of a newborn transfer at a fire station.

References: Newborn Safety Act, RCW 13.34.360

Procedure:

1. Pursuant to the Newborn Safety Act (RCW 13.34.360), fire stations are designated as an “appropriate location” under Washington law for a parent to transfer her newborn in lieu of leaving the newborn in an unsafe place. The parent who transfers the newborn (less than 72 hours old and not appearing to have been intentionally harmed) to a qualified person at a fire station is not subject to criminal liability. The Fire District’s primary concern is the safety of any infant, child, or adult patient.
2. Steps.
 - a) If a parent wishing to leave a newborn at a fire station approaches any Fire District employee, the employee will immediately bring the newborn, with the parent if possible, inside the fire station.
 - i. Obtain the Newborn Infant Transfer at Fire Station Packet (pink cover sheet) located in the station office and follow the enclosed instructions.
 - ii. Notify the on-duty 820 officer.
 - iii. Transfer newborn and paperwork (including the run report and the “Form A” Parent Interview Packet) by ambulance to the nearest hospital emergency department for observation/treatment, or while awaiting Child Protective Services (CPS).
 - iv. Report incident to CPS as soon as possible at 509-363-3333 Monday through Friday, 0800 to 1630, or 1-800-562-5624 after hours and weekends.
 - b) If it is determined that the infant is not a newborn under the statute, law enforcement shall be notified immediately.
